HOTELS · SHOPS
Fred Harvey
RESTAURANTS

POST CARD

STAMP

Thirteen miles west of Albuquerque is the Indian pueblo of Isleta. One of the striking features of this pueblo is the old church. It is easily distinguished by the two immense bell towers. Notwithstanding the presence of a well preserved church and the constant attendance of a priest, Isleta possesses an estufa, or native ceremonial chamber, where ancient religious rites are still observed.

COPYRIGHT BY FRED HARVEY

MESSAGE

OB-H73

ADDRESS

H-2016—INTERIOR OF CHURCH, PUEBLO OF ISLETA, NEW MEXICO